WIND FANS TWO DWELLING FIRES

Jesse Walter Property on York Street on Fire from Chimney Sparks. House on Twining Farm Two Miles North of Town is Burned.

Gettysburg's firemen put through a hard and successful fight against a stubborn blaze in the attic of the Jesse Walter residence on York street late Monday afternoon. The fire was discovered by Charles Colestock shortly after it had gotten under way and the prompt turning in of an alarm helped materially the small army that gathered at the scene.

It is supposed that the blaze originated from a spark from a nearby chimney. William F. Codori and Arthur Hutchison, from the Central Auto Garage, were first on hand with tanks of chemical extinguishers and they held the fire in check until the firemen arrived.

A plug stream was soon working, but the pressure was not sufficient to throw the water to the top of the roof. An engine stream lasted only a few minutes until the big suction hose burst and the remainder of the fight was with buckets and chemicals. The roofs of nearby houses were dotted with men throwing on water to prevent a spread of the flames by the high wind which prevailed.

Not for many years have the firemen suffered from the cold as they did in Monday afternoon's work. The water formed over their hands, coats and helmets in sheets of ice almost as soon as it struck them and the work was done in the face of the greatest difficulties. Immediately after it was gotten under control a welcome invitation was received from William F. Codori to the men to come to his home where steaming hot coffee, sandwiches and other good things had been quickly prepared for them. It was a bit of thoughtfulness that was greatly appreciated.

At the Walter home the roof over the rear part of the house was badly damaged but little other harm was done except by the water which flooded the one part of the residence. All of the loss is covered by insurance.

The fire Monday was a keen reminder of the Eagle Hotel fire which occurred exactly twenty years ago, January 12, 1894. It started at 8:15 in the morning and was on a cold, windy day very much like this January twelfth.

Burned to the Ground
The tenant house on the Joseph B. Twining farm on the Carlisle Road, a few miles north of Gettysburg, burned to the ground between eight and nine o'clock Monday evening together with a large part of the contents. The house was occupied by William V. Ammerman who is in Mr. Twining's employ.

When first discovered the blaze was working about the chimney at the roof and had gotten little headway. The family quickly organized themselves into a bucket brigade and for a time it seemed that they were going to succeed in preventing a further spread of the flames, but the wind was too strong and gradually the fire spread until it was far beyond control. They then devoted their efforts to saving their clothing and furniture.

The building was an eight room frame house with attic and, once the flames had gotten headway, burned so rapidly that it took with it much of the contents. Mr. Twining carried some insurance but not sufficient to cover his loss.

The blaze was plainly seen from Gettysburg, and for many miles over the northeastern part of the county.

COLLEGE ARCHITECT

George C. Baum, of Philadelphia, has been selected by the building committee of the College Board of Trustees as the architect for the new college buildings, soon to be erected. Mr. Baum was selected from the six applicants for the position, all of whom are architects of fine reputation. He graduated from college in 1893 and designed the gateway erected by that class last spring.

LATEST STORY OF EDDIE PLANK

Have him Slated as a Possible Part Owner of the Lancaster Tri-State Base Ball Team. That City Having its Troubles.

Eddie Plank as a base ball magnate is the latest mid-winter talk among the diamond authorities. That he may buy a part interest in the Lancaster Tri-State Club is prophesied in a dispatch from that city to the Philadelphia Inquirer which says:

"With the prospect that Lancaster will be re-admitted into the Tri-State League, various rumors have been afloat as to who will back the new organization in this city. Inasmuch as most of the ardent supporters of the game here are interested in the Atlantic City club, that was transferred from this city and is again to be taken to Reading, there has been no local activity as yet looking toward the organization of a new club. It is rumored, however, that appeals have been made to Connie Mack to enlist his interest and support.

"Mack and his veteran pitcher, Eddie Plank, will address a public mass meeting here in the near future to stimulate public interest, and it is possible that Plank may also decide to invest in the Lancaster proposition."

He was also active during the Civil War in the destruction of railroads desired by the enemy and in the construction of road for the Northern forces. This brought him in constant touch with Secretary Stanton, Halleck and at times with Lincoln. The lecture will begin promptly at eight o'clock. The public is invited.

ODD PROPHET
Caterpillar Foretold Present Low Temperature Last November.

The present cold spell comes in verification of the prophecy made last November by Henry Hershey, of Spring Grove, that while this would be a mild winter, low temperature would prevail at this period and just before spring. Mr. Hershey bases his prophecies on the stripes of a species of caterpillars. These had many white stripes last summer, which he interpreted as indicating mild weather, the black stripes on the caterpillars indicated cold weather and by their location he judged the time of the two cold spells. He has been remarkably successful in his predictions.

WONDERS HOW GAME IS LEFT

State Game Commissioner Says Slaughter is so Great that he Does not Understand how Any Game is Left in this State.

Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, declares in his annual report which he has just placed in the hands of the Governor, that the game seasons are so mixed up that some readjustment must be made if the game is to survive. He says in one portion:

"When I consider that our game birds are not migratory, that they must stay in the section where they are reared to face not only men with guns, but vermin, disease, starvation, consequent upon climatic conditions, the only wonder to me is that we have game at all and it seems to be imperative if that game is to be continued that the seasons during which men may hunt must be restricted, that vermin must be exterminated and that our game birds must be cared for during severe winter weather."

In another section he says: "It seems to be that because of improved methods of transportation to hunters and their dogs, automobiles, etc., improved guns and expert marksmanship, that our game, especially game birds, cannot stand a longer season than thirty days, and considering all conditions, that it should be the month of November only for birds. The season for bear and deer might well be fixed outside of this month without danger to birds. If bear and deer hunters are limited to the possession of rifles when hunting big game the rabbit season might well be extended to the end of December, if the use of bird dogs was forbidden during the said month of December."

Regarding the hunters' license bill, he says the Commission had nothing whatever to do with its being introduced in the Legislature and the people having it in charge even rejected certain suggestions that he made. That great benefit will come to the State through the passage of this measure, he says, cannot be questioned. A fixed fund from which bounties are to be paid has already been created, as has also a fund by which large and small game may be purchased for distribution. "To my mind," says Secretary Kalbfus, "one of the great features of this resident hunters' license is that it places the sportsmen of this Commonwealth in a position where they, and they alone, are paying for protection to the birds they desire to kill as game birds."

While unable to give the number of licenses taken out, he says that 330,000 were placed in the hands of county treasurers, and the majority of these have been taken. Premising that 300,000 licenses were taken and that 75,000 landowners could hunt without license, he estimates that in the neighborhood of 400,000 hunters had the right to kill game in Pennsylvania last year.

During the 1913 season forty-nine persons were killed and 149 hurt. It is estimated that there were 400,000 hunters, of whom 330,000 were licensed, the rest being landowners on their own land. There were killed 2,000,000 rabbits, 400,000 grouse, 800 buck deer, sixty does, 100 bear and thousands of quail. Two of the seventy-two elk turned loose in the State were shot. The secretary is not very certain about the elk propagation and remarks that they have shown a tendency to raid farms.

The report highly commends the work of the State police during the game season and expresses the regret that three times as many members of the State police force are not available. The work of the policemen is appreciated by many hunters as well.

U.S. TO HOLD 3000
FEDERALS AT FORT

Mexican Refugees Will March
Five Days to Railroad.

THEY ARE MADE PRISONERS

Secretary Garrison Orders Huerta's
Soldiers Held Indefinitely Under Military Guard.

Washington, Jan. 13. -- All of the Mexican Federal soldiers now in the custody of the United States border patrol forces at Presidio, Texas, will be transferred to Fort Bliss and interned there indefinitely.

Secretary of War Garrison ordered the transfer, with permission for the refugee women and children to accompany the soldiers if they desire.

There are about 3000 of the Mexican officers and men who fled across the Rio Grande when the victorious Constitutionalists entered Ojinaga, and with them, besides many women and children, are some 1500 civilian refugees. The latter are not prisoners and will be allowed by the military authorities to do as they please, though those desiring to remain in American territory will have to satisfy the immigration authorities.

With Presidio sixty miles away from the nearest railroad, it will be quite an undertaking to get the army of prisoners to its haven.

Brigadier General Bliss, commanding the border forces, will march his uninvited visitors northward to Marfa, and there put them aboard trains for Fort Bliss, near El Paso.

The thousand or more horses brought over by the Mexicans, probably will be used on the journey of five or six days, as there will have to be wagon trains for the sick and the wounded, the women and children and the baggage.

Some of the Constitutional soldiers who were driven across the line at other points, though disarmed by the American troops, were subsequently allowed to "filter back" into Mexico when the coast was clear. For the present, however, there will be no more "filtering back," Secretary Garrison announced, either of Federals or Constitutionalists.

The secretary decided that the women and children who accompanied the soldiers into Texas should be allowed to remain with them in the detention camp, if they cared to do so, and that in any case their immediate wants in the matter of food and shelter should be provided for by the army.

It was expressly stated that this policy is, for the moment, intended to meet an emergency, and might be changed at any time in the future. At present the United States will pay for the keep of these Mexican soldiers and their adherents, but later on the Mexican government will be called upon for reimbursement.

VILLA'S TROOPS MOVE SOUTH

Rebels Expect to Take Torreon Without Firing a Shot.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 13.--The capture of Ojinaga and the dispersal of the Federal forces which defended it having given him undisputed command of northern Mexico, General Villa, the successful commander of the Constitutional forces, prepared to march on Torreon, and from there to Mexico City.

Part of General Villa's force has been sent forward. A garrison will be left at Ojinaga.

"We are on our way to Mexico City," said General Villa. "We have 7000 men here, and it will require a week to get the last of them out and on the way to where trains await them. Before going, however, we will make sure that there are no lurking bands of Federals who might attempt to retake Ojinaga and use it as a base from which to harass our lines of communication with the border. We will proceed to Torreon, which we believe will now be evacuated by the Federals without a fight."

It is believed that Generals Orozco, Salazar, Rojas and Caraveo, who escaped with 300 to 500 Federal soldiers during Saturday night's battle, must be reckoned with before the trouble in northern Chihuahua can be said to be ended.

Twenty-eight hundred Federals, including six generals, six field pieces, and an immense quantity of ammunition, are now in the custody of the United States troops along the Mexican border.

Wife Slayer Must Die.

Reading, Pa., Jan. 13. -- Frank P. Schnabel, convicted of murdering his wife, from whom he had been separated, was sentenced to be hanged by Judge Wagner in court. Schnabel's only comment was: "I couldn't help it." Governor Tener will fix the date shortly. This will be the last hanging in Berks county, as the new law provides electrocution for all murderers whose crimes were committed after the date of its passage.

Against "Open Gate" Plan.

Washington, Jan. 13. -- The "open gate" resolution to make the constitution amendable by state action without initiative action in congress, proposed by Senator Cummins, was voted down by the judiciary committee.

THE WEST IN GRASP OF A COLD WAVE

Much Suffering Among the Poor of Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 13.--Zero and a wind storm hit this city with a vengeance. Suffering among the poor is widespread. Hundreds of the homeless are being sheltered at the police stations and charitable institutions.

It was the first real touch of winter weather of the year, and it rode in on a high wind. Advertising signs and windows were badly wrecked.

Five degrees above zero was the minimum temperature reported from Indianapolis.

The cold wave is general through out Indiana, several points reporting a minimum of ten degrees.

In the north or lake territory the cold was the most intense in many years.

Cleveland experienced a gale which blew sixty miles an hour from the northwest. The mercury registered fourteen above zero.

Street thermometers in Duluth, Minn., shortly after midnight began skidding downward until at eight a. m. the mercury stood at nineteen below zero.

The first below zero temperature of the winter was recorded at La Crosse, Wis., when the thermometer at the government station went to six below it breaks the record in this district for forty years.

RIOT AT FORD MOTOR PLANT

Six Thousand Apply For Employment Under Profit-Sharing Plan.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.--Six thousand men stormed the plant of the Ford Motor company in an attempt to get work under the new profit-sharing scheme of the management.

The shivering line of job seekers got beyond the control of the patrolmen on duty and rioting followed. The outbreak occurred within three hours after Henry Ford, head of the concern who originated the plan of distributing $10,000,000 among his workmen, arrived home from New York.

In the end the patrolmen were able to drive the rioters from the plant into the streets. The management then sent out word that no one would be hired.

BRAVE SAILORS REWARDED

Captain and Three Officers Receive $500 Each.

New York, Jan. 13.--Captain W. T. Aspinwall, of the Booth liner Gregory, and his three officers, who jumped overboard and saved five sailors from the wreck of the tank steamer Oklahoma a week ago, have received $500 each from the Gulf Refining company, owners of the lost vessel.

IN DELAWARE CO.

NO REFUSALS THUS FAR

More Decisions Will Be Handed Down
Later--Heavy Blow to No-License
League.

Media, Pa., Jan. 13.--Judges Johnson and Proomall, in the Delaware county license court, granted forty-two of the ninety-seven licenses in the county, which have been before the court for three weeks, thus allowing that number of hotels and liquor stores to reopen for business, after having been closed since Jan. 3.

While less than half of the total number were handed down in the first batch, it is considered significant by the liquor men that there were no refusals in the list, and that virtually all of the so-called McClure licenses held by or granted to the family which has been in the forefront of the liquor business in the county for many years, were granted.

After the first rush and excitement about the court house died down, and the liquor men had scattered to their homes, it was announced that the decisions were in cases in which the two judges had a chance to confer. The forty-two granted were the only ones on which they had conferred, it was announced.

Scores of liquor men besieged the office of Prothonotary J. Harvey Smith, where the decisions of the court were filed. As fast as they obtained assurance that their licenses had been granted they hurried to the office of Walter Westcott, the county treasurer, and paid the license fee--$550 in Chester and $250 in the county outside of Chester.

As soon as they had the county treasurer's receipt they telephoned to their places of business, where bartenders were waiting at the telephone, and within an hour of the court's action the drought of the county was at an end.

The granting of forty-two licenses, including a number against which strong fights were made, was regarded as a heavy blow to the activity of the No-License League.

In the list granted there were nineteen hotels, six stores and one brewery in Chester, and fifteen hotels and one store in the county outside of Chester.

Chief attention in the list granted was centered on the Buttonwood hotel of A. J. McClure, at Darby; the White Horse hotel of David McClure, at Prospect Park, and the Colonial hotel of James F. Dougherty, known in the sporting world as "Jimmy the Wrestler," at Lelleville. Against each of these the No-License League made a bitter fight, alleging that the places were not licensed, that liquor was sold to minors, that the proprietors violated the law in other ways, and that the places were wholly unnecessary.

The court has not yet taken up for consideration the application of former Coroner Edward S. Fry for a renewal of his license. Action on this application is being held up, pending an investigation into charges that an effort was made to tamper with witnesses called to testify as to Fry's alleged relations with Florence Knight, who died, supposedly from an unprofessional operation, after living as the housekeeper for Fry.

KAISER CHOPS WOOD

Gets Through a Half Cord a Day as Empress Looks On.

Berlin, Jan. 13.--His imperial majesty the kaiser is daily cutting half a cord of wood in Sans Souci park, one of his estates.

With a hired laborer at the other end of a huge cross-cut saw, the emperor sawed his daily stint of timber and then proceeded to chop it into stove size. Nearly the empress Augusta sat on a rustic bench and coached the war lord, between gusts of laughter. The wood chopping is the imperial physician's prescription for insomnia and nervousness.

GOVERNMENT MAY
BUY ARMOR PLANT

Can Save $1,000,000 by Adopting
This Plan.

Washington, Jan. 13.--The purchase of an existing armor plate plant is being considered by Secretary of the Navy Daniels in place of the many proposals for the construction of a new plant by the government.

The secretary is understood to have under way a plan for a physical valuation of existing plants. He is said to believe that $1,000,000 can be saved by buying a plant, instead of building one. Since the agitation for government manufacture of armor has been going on representatives of some steel mills have called on the secretary, it is reported, and have urged the purchase of a plant instead of the erection of a competing plant.

A bill appropriating $8,000,000, for the necessary part thereof, will be introduced in the house by Representative Barton, of Nebraska. The Carnegie, Midvale and Bethlehem steel plants are the only ones which have bid on armor plate for the construction of battleships recently.

Wonderful.

New York, Jan. 13.--Representative Robert G. Bremner, of New Jersey, in whose shoulder $100,000 worth of radium was placed to counteract a cancer, in a message to the public comments on the results effected in his case as follows:

"Radium is wonderful and is most wonderful to those who have devoted most of the time to its study. Even in my case physicians have found out something that more than repays me for coming here.

"If experimenting on me has added a new fact to science, then my life has not been in vain, but has helped the race. My life is not worth one-tenth of the effort that has been put forth to save it.

"I am ready for the scrap heap, but feel the cutting and doctoring has added to the knowledge of how best to fight cancer."

WHOLE STATE SOLD

Manuscript in New York Library
Tells of Transfer.

Mirrors Part of Price, Also Twelve
Horses, Cattle, Pigeons and $1.25 Included in Payment to Indians
by Land Company.

The first real estate transfer in this state occurred in 1773. The whole state was sold. The price, paid to a number of Indian chiefs by English promoters, was $1.25, a dozen horses, a dozen cattle, three dozen looking glasses and a lot of tobacco, beads, vermilion, knives, gun powder, beche-de-toile and blankets.

These facts were testified to in a contemporary manuscript included in the private library of the last Charles Henry Ward of New York city. The library will be sold at auction in New York on Friday of this week.

The manuscript is the record-book of "The United Illinois and Ouabache Land Companies" and contains transcripts of deeds to "Several Large and Fertile Tracts of Land on the Rivers Mississippi, Illinois, Ohio and Ouabache and their branches and Waters," subscribed to by the chiefs and sachems of the various tribes of the Illinois and Piankashaw Indians, dated respectively at Kaskaskia and Port St. Vincent, 1773 and 1775.

It contains also other historical records of the companies' resolutions and other transactions. It consists of 10 folio pages, closely written.

The "Large and Fertile Tracts" which were conveyed comprise all of what is now the state of Illinois. They were sold to William Murray and his associates, who were the promoters of the land company.

The manuscript also gives contemporary testimony as to the meaning of the word Chicago, mentioning "Chicago or Garlick Creek" in its description of the property sold.

The tracts conveyed were bounded by "Haron Creek, Hilly Plains, Crabtree Plains, Big Buffalo Hoofs, seven leagues or thereabouts to the Ohio and Mississippi; also from the mouth of the Illinois River to Chicago or Garlick Creek--thence to an ancient battlefield and two remarkable hills as well as the Foggy Spring and the White Buffalo Plain," and so on.

In the manuscript is included resolutions respecting the laying out of towns and plantations at the junction of the Mississippi and Ohio, the Ouabache (Wabash) and Ohio, and the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, with directions as to the making of streets, alleys and public buildings and the manner of drawing lots and the terms to settlers.

The establishment of civil and military authority is provided for, also the sale of the company's shares in Europe and the increasing of the holdings of certain officers of the Revolutionary army, Baron Steuben, General Wayne, General St. Clair and others.

The volume records the earliest attempt on the part of the whites to settle Chicago and the state of Illinois. As congress legislated the land company out of existence in 1801, it is probable that few, if any, other of its manuscript records survive.

SURE THAW WILL GO TO ASYLUM

Jerome Says Case Will Go to U. S. Supreme Court.

TO CONTINUE THE FIGHT

Slayer's Nemesis Does Not See Much Importance in the Sanity Opinion.

New York, Jan. 13.—"The state of New York will continue its fight to land Harry K. Thaw behind the bars at Matteawan, where he belongs," declared William Travers Jerome, special deputy attorney general, in discussing the finding of Federal Judge Aldrich's sanity commission.

Mr. Jerome, who prosecuted Thaw for the killing of Stanford White and who has been commissioned to return Thaw to the insane asylum, gave notice that New York state will carry its fight against Thaw to the supreme court of the United States.

As to the importance of the sanity commission's finding, Jerome said: "Except that it may afford Thaw an opportunity of reaching some foreign country from which he cannot be extradited to the United States or of killing some man, the report of Judge Aldrich's sanity commission is of no consequence. My personal opinion is that the finding of the commission means nothing so far as actual merits of the dispute are concerned. The only question involved in the proceedings between Judge Aldrich at Concord is whether or not the governor of New Hampshire acted legally when he granted extradition papers."

"Whatever way this question is decided it will go to the supreme court of the United States. I am sure we would appeal if reversed, and certainly the other side will keep up the fight. And you may bet a fortune on the decision of the supreme court. It will say that Governor Felker acted right in granting the extradition and Thaw will be brought back to the state of New York and put back into the Matteawan Asylum for the insane."

"But before he is again put in the asylum, he will be tried on charges of conspiracy in connection with his escape from that institution. Ultimately, however, he will land in Matteawan. Mark my words."

"If he is found guilty of conspiracy he will probably be put in the penitentiary, but from the penitentiary he will be transferred to Matteawan. That is where he belongs, and that is where he is going. There is a chance, however, that the courts may readjust him insane in connection with the conspiracy charge, but he could still be sent to Matteawan as a paranoiac."

Dr. Austin Flint, alienist for the state in the prosecution of Thaw, declared that he feared for his life if the release of the prisoner was granted without restrictions. Dr. Flint went over the history of Thaw's life and attempted to show that he might be a model citizen for a time, but that temptations of drink and a desire for revenge would lead him back into his dangerous self.

Expressing a directly opposite view to that of Dr. Flint, Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the New Jersey Institute for the Insane, said the commission's report confined his testimony given at hearings where the sanity of Thaw was at stake. He considered it a personal vindication.

Dr. Russell Kieb, superintendent of the Matteawan Hospital for the Criminal Insane, said: "I have said before that I believe Thaw is insane, and my very act of keeping him confined here is an expression of my belief that he is insane."

WILL NAME WILLIAMS

President to Appoint McAdoo's Assistant Comptroller of Currency.

Washington, Jan. 13.—That the president will send to the senate the name of John Skelton Williams to be comptroller of the currency and ex-officio member of the federal reserve board, was the opinion of both Democratic and Republican senators familiar with the situation.

The opposition to Mr. Williams in the senate is not confined to the Republican side. A number of the Democrats are hostile to his nomination, and one Democratic senator stated that President Wilson had been reluctant to name Mr. Williams for the office and had only yielded because Secretary McAdoo had been so insistent on having his assistant secretary named as comptroller.

Would Bar Cheap Labor.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Any alien laborer, who, within the year previous to his admission to the United States, had not earned 30 per cent of the wages paid in this country for the same work, would be excluded from the United States, by a bill introduced by Representative Gillette, of Massachusetts. ## GORED TO DEATH BY DEER

Keeper Killed by Weather-Maddened Animals.

Babylon, L. I., Jan. 13.—In a desperate fight with a herd of weather-maddened deer, led by a huge antlered buck, Patrick Horan, a keeper in the deer park in the late Edwin Hawley's estate at West Islip, was gored to death.

No one saw the battle, but a blood-stained pitchfork, a broken club, the ground torn up for many rods and blood dripping wounds on the deer themselves, were mute witnesses to the terrific struggle the aged man put up for his life.

Horan left his home for his duties in the deer park. When he did not return for lunch his body was found at the gate leading into the park. His body was so cut up by hoofs and antlers that he could scarcely be recognized.

BURGLARS FIGHT WAY OUT OF JAIL

Overpower Keeper, Beat Trusty and Escape.

Bridgeton, N. J., Jan. 13.—Two convicts awaiting transfer from the county jail to the state prison at Trenton, where they were to serve terms for burglary, enticed a keeper into their cell, overpowered him and escaped. A short term trusty tried to block their path, but was kicked aside.

The men are Thomas Connelly and Harry Jorden. They were convicted of having broken into the drug store of George H. Whipple & Son and were sentenced to indeterminate terms at the Trenton prison.

While Night Keeper George Blew was making the last round of the jail corridors the two men enticed him into the cell they occupied by pretending that one of them was ill.

Blew unlocked the door and went inside to see the man lying on the cot whom he supposed sick. As he bent over he was seized from behind and the man who was supposed to be ill suddenly became very active. Blew was quickly overpowered and bound fast.

Connelly and Jorden then made their way to the office, opening the doors with the keeper's keys. Charles Jacobs, a trusty, was on duty there watching the office while Blew was inside. He grabbed a blackjack when he saw the two men coming and tried to intercept them. He struck one of the men with the blackjack, but the men turned on him and knocked him down. They threw him into a corner of the office and, unlocking the outer door, disappeared.

M'ALLISTER KNOCKED OUT

Mike Gibbons Defeats Californian in Seventh Round.

New York, Jan. 13.—Mike Gibbons, of St. Paul, though outweighed by almost eight pounds, took a step nearer the lightweight championship when he knocked out Bob McAllister, of San Francisco, in the seventh round in Madison Square Garden.

The end came when it was least expected. McAllister, taller and with a long left hand, had been subjecting Gibbons to many light taps on the face. The Californian's defensive tactics had apparently bothered the St. Paul boxer, too, but when the gong changed for the seventh round, Gibbons, who had solved his man, cut loose with a fearful attack. McAllister was game, but a volley of smashes soon sent him to the floor for the count.

THE BOX-PLAID BLOUSE WITH POCKETS AN APPROVED NOVELTY

The triple skirt has been voted universally becoming, especially when it is fashioned of a light flimsy fabric or a clinging silk. Another very attractive feature of many of the new frocks is the surprise bodice. This is another revival and promises to rival its first appearance in popularity.

As printed chiffons, taffetas and light silks are to be generally fashionable the coming season, it is safe to predict that bordered materials will have a first place. They are so well suited to the two and three tiered skirts and the overblouse designs.

Number 8150 is developed in a bordered chiffon over chemise and is a charming afternoon or informal evening gown. For size 36 this costume requires 5½ yards of 36-inch material. There is a strictly practical element

FATHER WEPT TEARS OF JOY

Son of Prominent Mine Operator Evolves Great Scheme to Secure Dollar for Digging Garden.

"Johnnie," said a prominent mine operator to his youngest son the other day, "I'll give you a dollar if you'll dig up the front yard for your sister's new garden."

"All right," said Johnnie, thoughtfully. "But I shall have to ask for 25 per cent of the contract price in advance. Not as an evidence of good faith, but for working capital."

"Work—what do you mean?" "Well, you see, I guess I'll bury the quarter somewhere and tell all the boys in the neighborhood that a pirate hid some treasure round there. When they strike that quarter they'll make the dirt fly, I can tell you. In that way I can clean up about 75 per cent. In fact, I—"

"Well, what?" "In fact, I don't know but what I can also arrange so as to find that quarter myself. I'll work it just like that salted mine you were telling mamma about unloading on the street, last night."

And the father wept tears of joy.—Puck.

THE NEW COLORS

FOR SPRING

The stores are already beginning to answer the questions that so many women want answered.

As you read your newspaper to-day you will notice the new spring note creeping into the advertising. The stores are already beginning to show the beautiful cottons from which women will make their summer frocks.

The woman who expects to keep posted to the minute must be an advertising reader.

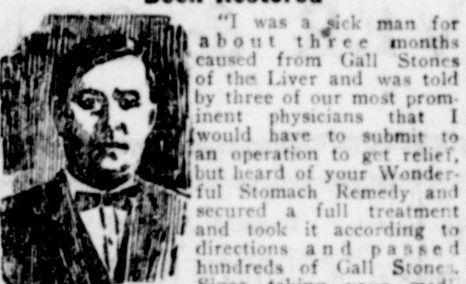

She must avail herself of the service her favorite newspaper provides for her.

It is the best fashion news in the world because it is based on theories. It is up to the minute. It is written in a way that makes it clear to her.

But it seems almost unnecessary to remind American women of the joys of advertising—for they are already the greatest readers of advertising in the world.

CARING FOR THE WINTER BORN CALF

Winter dairying is held in favor by some men who are on to their jobs, because they can give the calves better attention, writes a correspondent of the Iowa Homestead. Such dairy-men give their calves well lighted and well ventilated stalls, and these are kept as clean and have as much care as the stalls of the older cattle. Plenty of warm bedding is furnished, and if there is any suspicion of foul odor a light coat of lime is scattered over the floor before fresh bedding is applied.

To give the calf the best possible chance it is well to have a pen or yard attached to the stall on the sunny side, but sheltered from the west and north winds, where the young calf can take exercise. In this yard a drinking trough should be placed; also a manger in which to feed hay or other forage, which they will partake of as wanted through the day.

The milk that is fed the young calf should be as near the temperature that it is drawn from the cow as possible,

The value of pure blood in the dairy is proved by the career of the cow herewith illustrated. She was a Jersey of the Tormont strain and was owned by the Kentucky experiment station. She was dropped in 1894 and died eighteen years later. In her four-year-old form this cow made a week's butter record of 18 pounds 14 ounces of butter and a year's record of 675 pounds of churned butter and 10,218 pounds of milk. She was an excellent breeding cow and established a large family of heavy milking daughters and granddaughters at the Kentucky experiment station. She had thirteen calves, five bulls and eight heifers. The bull calves found ready sale and have been shipped to various parts of the United States at prices ranging from $75 to $200.

and it may be necessary to warm it slightly after it has been separated. The vessels in which it partakes its feed should be kept clean and sanitary by frequent scaldings and sunnings. There is little danger of diarrhea, which is so annoying and often fatal to the young calf. If cleanliness and the right temperature of milk are strictly attended to and the calf receives its meals regularly.

If a case of diarrhea, caused by neglect, is taken in time it can usually be cured. In addition to their feed give one or two tablespoonfuls of castor oil in a pint of warm milk each night and morning. A half pint of strong tea made from spice cloves with the same amount of milk will also have a checking influence on the bowels.

Some make a feed of gruel made of meal to mix with the milk. I do not think this advisable, as it seldom fails to give the scours. Dry, coarse meal is much better for the calf than the wet, sloppy feeds. When fed dry feed the calf is compelled to chew it and mix it more thoroughly with the saliva and thus prepare it for complete digestion. There is little trouble in teaching the young calf to eat dry feed. If a little meal is placed on its tongue or placed in its drinking trough its natural instinct to eat what is within its reach will assert itself, and it will soon be chewing its food well.

Dairy Cow Temperament. Nervous temperament in a cow does not mean a high state of nervousness or irritability, but that the animal has nerves such as make the various parts active, giving tone, vitality and activity to the many parts of the body, says Better Farming. This important characteristic is judged by the size and character of her eyes. Her face should be broad between the eyes and well-dished. The eyes should be prominent, bright, clear and mild, but not at all sluggish looking. The backbone should be covered with no surplus flesh, for if it is the cow is using to fatten herself that which should go into the milk pail. The ribs should be wide in themselves and should have plenty of width between them. This can be measured by inserting the fingers between the ribs. Persistence in chewing the cud is a very accurate indication of the sort of temperament that is to be found in the dairy cow.

Lice on Horses. The first symptoms of lice infection of horses are always manifested by considerable itching of the skin, says the Kansas Farmer. The best remedies probably are some of the coal tar products now on the market. These remedies can be used in the proportion of one part of the remedy to fifty parts of water. Careful washing of the part affected will destroy the lice. The nits or eggs, however, will hatch in from five to ten days, and a second application must be made about ten days after the first in order to destroy the lice hatched from these eggs. In treating animals for lice it is always well to pick out a warm day and give them a sheltered spot where they can dry out in the warm sunshine without being chilled.

Saturday Once Thought Unlucky. Saturday takes its name from Sæter, the Roman Saturnus, and for a long time it was looked on as the unluckiest day of the week.

FINDS GREAT HAPPINESS IN "KEEPING HOUSE"

Senator, economist, socialist, feminist—any of these? No; yet Mrs. Atlee Pomerene, wife of the Democratic senator from Ohio, is decidedly up-to-date and alert. This seems a paradoxical state, for it is generally accepted that up-to-dateness means an advocacy of at least one of these modern movements. Mrs. Pomerene says emphatically that it isn't because she decries the assertiveness of modern women that she takes no part in their attempts to solve some of the problems of the day. She believes decidedly that a woman may spend much of her time rubbing up against the great world of men and events and yet remain all that is attractive and admirable in womanhood. But as for herself—well, "somehow," says this pretty, blue-eyed lady with a contented smile, "the rule of wife seems to occupy me to the exclusion of any other. I have no hobby except my home and I like to cook and keep house better than any thing else."

ACCOMPLISHED WIFE OF NEW YORK'S MAYOR

A woman of domestic tastes, artistic in temperament and holding aloof from the strife of the feminist movement is Mrs. John Purroy Mitchel, wife of the recently elected mayor of the greatest city in the new world. Mrs. Mitchel is essentially a lover of home life. Tall, graceful, dignified and serene, she presides over her home at Riverside drive and Ninety-eighth street, New York, and provides that atmosphere of restfulness and peace which a busy man of affairs longs for and which many of them ever find. Her prevailing characteristic is serenity. It is impossible to think of Mrs. Mitchel as ruffled. It is impossible to think of her as complaining. Low voiced, graceful and deliberate

"The things that I am able to do are all directly or indirectly of a domestic nature," she confessed in the course of the conversation. "When I was a child I was weak and delicate, so my education was received at home, part of the time from a tutor. There were months when I did not studying at all. In this way, it seems to me always, the foundation of my training was not very solid. I never feel that I know a great deal about any one subject. My fund of information is general in character, never specialized. I have the greatest respect for the person who knows his subject from every standpoint."

"I think," she smiled, "that people are the most interesting part of life. One of the reasons that Washington is considered such an attractive residential city is the opportunity it affords for meeting people of varied sorts in such widely different walks of life." Senator and Mrs. Pomerene have been married 21 years. It is only since their marriage that Mr. Pomerene had held public office, with the exception of municipal positions in connection with his law practice in Canton. He was lieutenant governor of Ohio before he came to the senate. In the past the wife of a statesman could help his material advancement by keeping his house in order and making his friends—political or otherwise—comfortable. Nowadays another channel is open to her. She may even make stump speeches for him, either actually or through the indirect method of talking state and national politics along with her woman's suffrage. But not Mrs. Pomerene. She is of the old-fashioned school, and she believes—so does her husband, for that matter—that her way is effective. "Active participation in the affairs of a statesman-husband is not my idea of the way a wife can help him most successfully," she said emphatically. "I believe in filling his life so completely from every angle that his business will be his only care."
